The direct aim of the project is to provide possibilities for Finnish lecturers, teachers and other university staff for professional mobility to and from Japan. The purpose of these professional exchanges is first of all to get familiar with the Japanese higher education system, universities and system of child welfare. Secondly the mobility aims to development of common study modules, social pedagogy as a subject and finally higher education as a whole.

The indirect aim for the project is therefore to develop the descriptions of multidisciplinary study modules concerning especially the subjects of social pedagogy and social education, child mental health care and food management. The purpose of these descriptions is to create basics for further development work in together with the partnership and later on to enlarge it.
