Project title: E-GERON - International E-learning Module on Gerontological Nursing

| Coordinator | The project aims at developing an international e-learning module on gerontological nursing for bachelor level students at JAMK University of Applied Sciences, Finland and Kunming University, China. The developed module will be used as a tool in the development of a future student mobility programme in nursing at bachelor level between JAMK and KU. Student mobility programme will be finalised during autumn 2018. Aims of the E-GERON project are:
|             | 1) To enable KU Medical College nursing lecturers to gain international experience and enhance their competence on curriculum and e-learning development as part of international gerontological nursing education; |
| PARTNERS    | 2) To develop an international e-learning module on gerontological nursing for KU and JAMK bachelor level students to develop their gerontological nursing competence, e-learning competence together with international and multicultural competence and to prepare students for the international nursing profession; |
|            | 3) To facilitate a student mobility programme in autumn 2018 between JAMK and KU targeted for bachelor level nursing students for future years utilising the shared knowledge through the developed e-learning module. Student exchanges are due to start in spring 2019. |

Coordinator

JAMK University of Applied Sciences
School of Health and Social Studies
Pirjo Tiikkainen
pirjo.tiikkainen@jamk.fi

Partners

Kunming University, Medical College