* Since most courses are organised by for-profit service providers, the sending organisation may not be in a position to sign a learning agreement with them. Hence, absence of a learning agreement in case of Courses and training cannot be considered a qualitative deficiency.  Learning agreements for activity type 'Hosting teachers and educators and training' may be drafted by the sending Higher Education Institute  Certificate of learning outcomes is required by the Annex III of the grant agreement also for Invited experts; however since experts are not invited to learn, but to teach others this certificate will rather take the form of an 'Agreement with invited experts' * A specific template for supporting documents required for preparatory visits is not provided since there is little added value in having standardised templates for such simple documents			IMPORTANT: Please note that even if a specific document is obligatory, that does not imply that the template proposed by the EC is also obligatory. Documents can be drafted using a different template!
